Keep in mind - these are just the listings I could find. For example, I tracked down the Bureau of Engraving and Printing - in the state of Texas (foreign corp from the District of Columbia). This means, as 'citizens,' we are assets of the corporation. It doesn't matter who is in office, the board of directors and the shareholders own and run the country - just as in any other corporation. Roosevelt's quote has an entirely different meaning now: "The real truth of the matter is, as you and I know, that a financial element in the large centers has owned the government of the U.S. since the days of Andrew Jackson."

Franklin D. Roosevelt in a letter written Nov. 21, 1933 to Colonel E. Mandell House
"The thing to find out, and I'm hoping the corporate records will show, is who are the shareholders? Who profits - for example - from the 'private, for-profit, corporate CIA' or the 'private, for-profit, corporate IRS' or the 'private, for-profit Social Security' - that those in charge are now telling us is 'broke.'

Who is on the board of directors of 'UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, INC.'?

I think the biggest change politically is, is that businesses now recognize that if we don’t get a handle on this stuff that they are going to continue to be operating at a competitive disadvantage with other countries. And so they anxiously seek serious reform.

The fact that we’ve got hospitals and doctors who also recognize that the system is unsustainable on its current path, fiscal conservatives who recognize that the single biggest component of driving down our deficits and long-term debt is getting control of Medicare and Medicaid costs and that health care reform is critical to bend the curve.

All those things I think are converged. And you are absolutely right. The meeting we had here with insurance companies, drug companies, doctors, hospitals, labor, all the stakeholders involved, nurses, we haven’t seen that before.

Now, it’s still going to be very difficult to get a bill passed. But I’m absolutely committed to keeping this process moving, keeping the conversation going, focusing on how do we reduce costs, how do we increase efficiency, how do we make sure that families have some confidence that they can get health care when they need it and that they won’t go bankrupt because their child gets sick.

I really think that the stars may be aligned here and we potentially can get it done if everybody comes to it with a spirit not of ideological rigidity. But if they come at it with a sense that in a practical hard-headed way, we can really negotiate and compromise and get something done for the American people.

SCULLY: But do you think that’s something that—what ultimately will it look like and when will it happen?

OBAMA: Well, I’ve put forward a plan, a very extensive plan during the course of the campaign that I continue to think was the best approach. And what I would say is you will keep your health care if you already have health care. You can have your choice of doctors. You can have your choice of plans.

But what we are going to do is to invest more in prevention and wellness programs. We are going to manage how treatments are provided more effectively. We are going to initiate things like electronic medical record, something we invested in already in the recovery program that I passed. All these things will drive down costs.

Then what we want to do is also to make sure that everybody has basic coverage. Now, they may not have the gold-plated Cadillac health insurance, but it doesn’t make sense in a country as wealthy as ours that if you are working full time, you should be able to afford health care.

If you are a small business owner, you should be able to get the same low rates that somebody who works for a big company gets. And so, the principle of driving down costs at the same time providing greater care for more people, higher quality care, and making sure that we as a country as a whole are getting a better bang for our health care dollar.

I think those things are achievable. They are not going to be easy. And some of the savings you won’t see for five or 10 years, because the system is going to have to work through some of these inefficiencies.

Health information technology, for example, can be a huge cost saver, because it can eliminate duplicative records, reduce medical errors, but it’s going to take some time for us to build out the infrastructure so that every provider, every small community hospital has these things in place. And that’s part of the role that the government can play.

But the key point here, which I think I want to emphasize again, is if you’ve got health care— I don’t want to take away your choices. I want to add your choices. I want you to be able to keep your doctor, keep your health care, but I want to be able to drive down costs. And if you are dissatisfied with your health care, I want to make sure you get some other options out there.

SCULLY: Yet, it all takes money. You know the numbers, $1.7 trillion debt, a national deficit of $1 trillion. At what point do we run out of money?

OBAMA: Well, we are out of money now. We are operating in deep deficits, not caused by any decisions we’ve made on health care so far. This is a consequence of the crisis that we’ve seen and in fact our failure to make some good decisions on health care over the last several decades.

The White House
Invocation of Evidence of Theft

UCC 81-202
Legal Max: Fraud Verbs Contract Ab initio

12th November 1626

To

The High Council of the City of Amsterdam

This act is based on the evidence of a certain Mr. Hendrik van der Meer, who has been a witness to the events described below. He is a reputable citizen of this city and has provided this testimony on oath.

On the 12th of November, 1626, Mr. Hendrik van der Meer states that the said Mr. Huygens, a merchant of this city, has been acting in a fraudulent manner with respect to certain transactions involving silver and other goods. He has purchased goods from Mr. Huygens, who has failed to deliver them as agreed. The said Mr. Huygens has not only failed to deliver the goods, but has also failed to return the money he has received.

I, Hendrik van der Meer, do hereby certify the accuracy of the above statement.

Hendrik van der Meer

HISTORY'S ONLY WRITTEN RECORD OF THE PURCHASE OF MANHATTAN ISLAND

Translation of Schagen's Letter

High Mighty Sirs:

Here arrived yesterday the ship The Arms of Amsterdam which sailed from New Netherland out of the Maurits River on September 23, they report that our people there are of good courage and live peaceably. Their women, also, have borne children there. THEY HAVE BOUGHT THE ISLAND MANHATTES FROM THE WILD MEN FOR THE VALUE OF SIXTY GUILDERS, is 11,000 Morgens in extent. They sowed all their grain in the middle of May, and harvested it in the middle of August. Thereof being samples of summer grain such as wheat, rye, and flax.

The cargo of the aforesaid ship is:

- 7246 beaver skins
- 178½ otter skins
- 675 otter skins
- 48 mink skins
- 36 wild-cat (lynx) skins
- 33 minks
- 34 rat skins
- many logs of oak and nutwood

Herewith be ye High Mighty Sirs, commended to the Almighty's grace. In Amsterdam, November 5, Ao 1626.

Your High Might's Obedient

P. Schagen
