

United States Code: List of Positive Law Titles With Enacting Cites and Location to Revision Notes

Compiled by Richard J. McKinney, Assistant Law Librarian, Federal Reserve Board
Prepared for a November 9, 2004, program of the Legislative Research Special Interest Section of the Law Librarians' Society of Washington, D.C., Inc. (<http://www.llsdc.org>); Last revised in January 2011

Positive law titles of the United States Code, indicated by an asterisk, are legal evidence of the law and need no further authoritative citation as prior acts concerning those titles have been repealed. Other titles to the U.S. Code are "prima facie" evidence of the law (1 USC §204), and are presumed to be the law, but are rebuttable by production of prior unrepealed acts of Congress at variance with the Code. About half the titles of the Code have been revised, codified and enacted into positive law. The enacting terms used in this list under each positive law title are taken from the enacting clauses themselves. Historical and revision notes which explain derivations to each revised section, as well as editorial and non-substantive changes to them, are frequently set out after each section of a positive law title and are taken from committee reports (usually from the House Judiciary Committee) which accompany the legislation. The committee report number and where else it can be found is also set out.

Titles 1-50 The Code of the Laws of the United States of America

Enacted into prima facie law by act of June 30, 1926, ch. 712, 44 Stat. 1, pt. 1.
